

Abstract

The present invention provides an improved method of nanopore sequencing by generating a nucleic acid molecule to be sequenced having tandem repeats of a sequence, and also having modified nucleotides which reduce the levels of secondary structure. The presence of tandemly repeated sequence and the absence of secondary structure increases the rate of sequencing and accuracy of sequences generated by nanopore sequencing.

10